AHF's Global Public Health Institute & GISAID Genomic Sequencing Collaboration

The AHF Global Public Health Institute at the University of Miami and GISAID, the global data science initiative and primary data source of the coronavirus responsible for COVID-19, signed a Memorandum of Understanding April 11th, enabling increased collaboration on genomic sequencing (GS) efforts in low- and middle-income countries.

In addition to expanding GS capacity, the agreement between AHF and GISAID will foster high-level advocacy on the importance of GS to end the COVID-19 pandemic and leverage established educational programs offered by GISAID in support of the GS projects AHF is currently funding. The MoU was the first official cooperative measure between the two organizations.

"The collaboration between AHF and GISAID will further advance the rapid sharing of genome data in places that need our support," says GISAID Vice President Ben Branda. "One critical element is that we continue to incentivize researchers and governments alike, by giving them meaningful equity in the data they generate. GISAID is grateful for AHF's vision and financial support toward those joint efforts."

Since the first whole-genome sequences were made available through GISAID in January 2020, data submitters from 210 countries and territories have collectively contributed over 10 million SARS-CoV-2 genomes to GISAID. This monumental global effort enabled the development of lifesaving countermeasures to COVID-19 at unprecedented speed, including the first vaccines and diagnostic tests to detect SARS-CoV-2.

"GISAID is a great representation of the type of cooperation and coordination that's been needed yet sorely lacking throughout much of the last two years. I'm very pleased to inaugurate this relationship on behalf of AHF," said AHF President Michael Weinstein.

"Genomic sequencing, in general, is the early warning system that we need if we have additional surges from COVID-19 and other diseases. It's been our privilege to fund 17 projects globally to help them scale up genomic sequencing in different places around the globe." To learn more about GISAID, visit www.gisaid.org.

UNITE And AHF Join Forces

AHF joined forces with UNITE to sign a memorandum of understanding in Lisbon, Portugal on March 24th, 2022. The memorandum outlines their joint work to prevent and respond to future pandemics.

UNITE is a global network of parliamentarians committed to driving political change and impact to end infectious diseases as a global health threat until 2030. They have more than 200 members across 70 countries.

Considering the global devastation caused by COVID-19, it's important that advocacy organizations like AHF and government organizations like UNITE partner to prepare for pandemics.

UNITE and AHF released statements to address the need for such collaborations and their missions to forge ahead. UNITE president Ricardo Baptiste Leite said, "UNITE has the right tools to achieve the required political impact, and the parliamentarians of the network are committed to doing so."

AHF President Michael Weinstein added, "To push for maximum political impact and change, we need parliamentarians on board, as they are the voice of the people."

Since UNITE's beginning in 2017, AHF has supported UNITE's work in its different areas of intervention. Learn more about UNITE at www.unitenetwork.org.

AHF Wellness: Hook Up with Wellness

Thirty-five AHF Wellness Centers are currently open across thirteen states (plus DC), with twelve more operating in five global countries. Our Wellness Centers offer FREE STI and HIV testing, STI and HIV counseling, FREE condoms, PEP and PrEP, and linkage to treatment for any positive results that may occur.

But did you know AHF Wellness Centers can also prescribe PEP and PrEP? And here's a fun fact, AHF is the largest provider of PrEP in the U.S.

As we grow as an organization it's important that we expand our Wellness services and hours of availability. That's why AHF just added a Wellness Center to our North Las Vegas Healthcare Center open on Tuesdays, as well as Wellness hours opening at our Healthcare Center in Homestead, FL open on Wednesdays, with more to come.

It's important that our Healthcare Center staff hook up our clients with their Wellness locations and hours sending them to www.freestdcheck.org. That extra effort helps us maintain the friendly atmosphere that our Wellness Centers are known for.

Our goal is to make STI and HIV testing as accessible as possible. And unlike our Healthcare Centers, Wellness Centers welcome walk-ins. With no appointments necessary to be seen, clients can simply walk into Wellness, register with the Healthvana app, and wait briefly to be seen. Thanks to easy access, AHF Wellness Centers have helped our organization administer 169,874 HIV tests in 2021 and have helped distribute more than 73 million condoms. Talk about making an impact.

An essential part of these accomplishments are the Wellness Center staff who offer a warm and welcoming experience to visitors. Counselors go above and beyond by guiding people through each step of the testing process, which puts them at ease. The way we care for patients is what sets AHF apart.

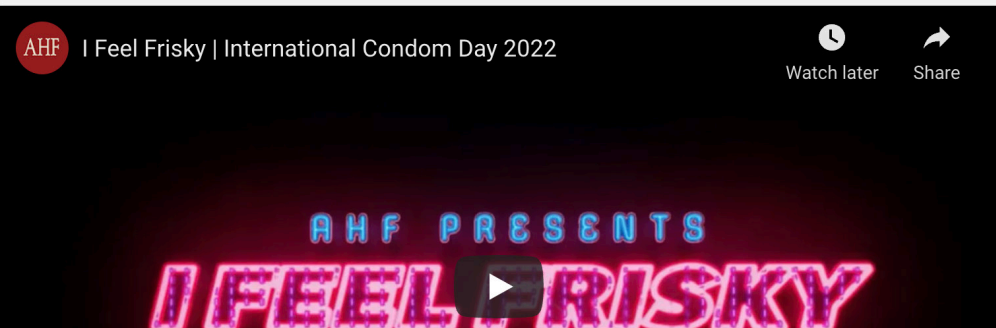

What does Wellness mean to you? Answer this question and send your response to ahfmarketing@ahf.org with the subject line "Wellness means" to be featured in the AHF Wellness section of our monthly newsletter and score 500 Above & Beyond points!

CHECK OUT AHF'S INTERNATIONAL CONDOM DAY PARODY

Inspired by West Side Story's classic song "I Feel Pretty", AHF is proud to bring you "I Feel Frisky" our 2022 International Condom Day anthem.

AHF: Fit for Competition

Fitbit competitions have been in full swing and with AIDS Walk Atlanta and Pride events coming soon, there will be more chances to win big prizes.

How's your fitness level AHF? In January we teamed up with Fitbit and launched a series of AHF wellness challenges. The goal is to promote physical, mental, and emotional health among AHF staff, and to create fun, cooperative activities for everyone to enjoy.

We've walked for individual accolades, we've stepped up go walk department vs. department, and we've even trusted our leaders to come up with competitions for their own teams.

We're overjoyed by the enthusiasm for the challenges and want to thank everyone who has participated using their FREE Fitbit!

We've rallied with our coworkers and the competitions are heating up! That means BIG rewards for BIG feats. Florida AIDS Walk and AIDS Walk Atlanta participants will have a chance to win Airpod Pros based on the most steps logged at each event. The staff member with the most individual steps from the two AIDS Walks will claim the grand prize!

The winning event and winning walker will be announced in the November newsletter with rejoice-worthy Above & Beyond points dolled out to all participants. But don't worry about the wait. There will be more Fitbit challenges along the way meaning more chances to win—including May's raffle competition. Have you started yet?

If you haven't ordered your Fitbit yet, you still can by visiting www.ahf.org/fitbit. Order your Fitbit, register an AHF account, and join your department challenges. You could be the missing link your team needs to come out on top.

Email fitbit@ahf.org for info.

Community Spotlight: AID Atlanta

AID Atlanta has been providing HIV/AIDS-related services, care, and education since 1982 in the face of fear and bigotry in the Atlanta community. The organization quickly expanded to engage Black and Latino populations and meet the evolving needs of their community in response to the epidemic. Today, AID Atlanta offers HIV and STI testing, primary care, medical case management, housing and utility assistance, behavioral health services, pharmacy services, PrEP, and patient forms.

AID Atlanta's mission is to reduce the number of people newly diagnosed with HIV and to improve the quality of life of their members. The organization has been serving those who need them for 40 years as a one-stop shop, where they've cultivated a safe, welcoming space that's family-oriented and non-judgmental.

The biggest impact AID Atlanta has made is in the metro area where many of their case managers operate in facilities that are nearly impossible to get the services they provide at. Their team works in jails, county health departments and housing facilities, and other government-run agencies.

Now AID Atlanta offers healthcare in rural areas like Newnan, GA. They started operations in Newnan in 2015 with less than 300 clients, and today, their Newnan location provides services to over 700 people. The need for AID Atlanta is greater in these rural areas because transportation issues are a common roadblock for their clients.

AID Atlanta will work to stretch their reach by continuing to provide as many services as people need and by advocating for the housing, medical care, and social needs of their clients. They'll accomplish this by building a community around client involvement and continuing to build non-traditional HIV partnerships so that their message spreads beyond their network of HIV/AIDS organizations. "If we branch out to non-HIV communities, we can engage with new demographics and more people who need our services, to attract more champions of HIV and AIDS." To support AID Atlanta, please visit www.aidatlanta.org.

Global: India “India Health Minister Tours AHF Healthcare Centers”

Health Minister of Mizoram State, India – Dr. R Lalthangliana – and his family recently toured AHF and affiliate facilities in Dallas-Fort Worth (DFW), Texas. The visits introduced the Minister to U.S. clinic operations and opened the door for future collaborative opportunities in the fight against HIV/AIDS between his office, AHF and its affiliates, and DFW’s political and administrative leaders. Dr. Lalthangliana began his visit at the co-located AIDS Outreach Center (AOC)-AHF Ft. Worth Healthcare Center (HCC), then toured AHF HCC Dallas. His next stops included the co-located Access & Information Network (AIN)-AHF Dallas Market Center HCC and Dallas Out of the Closet (OTC) “mini-clinic” – an all-encompassing facility that offers a thrift store, wellness center, and pharmacy. Dr. R Lalthangliana also toured the food pantry at Access & Information Network with AIDS Outreach Center Director of Community Health Ruben Ramirez. The Health Minister was impressed with the operations at all facilities and remarked that combining HIV clinics with hospitals would help combat stigma and discrimination, a significant challenge people living with HIV face in India. Mizoram State is located in northeast India on the border with neighboring Myanmar. It has the highest HIV prevalence in the country at 2.3% of the state’s population of 1.1 million people (per 2011 census) – which is ten times the national average. To learn more about AHF Global Operations visit www.aidshealth.org/global.

AHF celebrated diversity in the beautiful city of Miami Beach for Miami Pride. April 9th-10th we participated in Pride festivals at Lummus Park and Sunday's Pride parade, walking alongside Miami's LGBTQ+ community, their friends, allies, and supporters. As a part of Miami Pride, AHF participated in the city's activations, arts, culture, and community engagement. Mobile Testing Units were made available to the community for rapid HIV tests, and our volunteers passed out #WeStandUnited shirts and swag, and engaged with crowds on the #WeStandUnited float. Miami Pride is just one of many that AHF attends each year. Stay tuned for your opportunity to join the fun and volunteer for a Pride parade in your city!

Thrifting is Righteous

AHF just launched Out of the Closet's "Thrifting is Righteous" campaign across the country. The goal of "Thrifting is Righteous" is to show people that thrifting is both good for the planet and good for the communities that AHF serves.

All OTC staff have received shirts, stickers, and other items to promote the campaign

When people donate or shop at Out of the Closet they're making a sustainable choice to reuse clothing instead of contributing to harmful and destructive fast fashion trends.

Thrifting has become increasingly popular over the years. It's trendy, accessible, and sustainable. With the rise of independent resellers and online stores like Etsy and Depop, thrifting is in style.

It's a way buyers and sellers show off their individuality, and it's an avenue for people to have far more creative control over their look.

Thrifting allows you to mix and match and style and profile in ways that make a statement. Looking like a million bucks is usually reserved for people who can afford to fill their closets with designer threads or hire a professional stylist. By thrifting, you can be your own high-fashion stylist.

This eco-friendly alternative to buying new also has eye-opening data behind it that'll make you want to try it on for yourself. Because thrifting keeps clothes in circulation longer, it reduces the need to manufacture more, and reduces waste in landfills. It also prevents pollution and saves energy as well as other finite resources.

While this is true of thrifting in general, because 96 cents of every dollar collected at an Out of the Closet goes back into HIV care, when you thrift at Out of the Closet you save the planet and people.

So yes, Thrifting is Righteous, and Out of the Closet stores improve the lives of the most vulnerable members of our collective communities.

Visit www.outofthecloset.org to find an Out of the Closet thrift store nearest you!

Key Facts About Thrifting:

Reduces Waste - Fewer clothes need to be produced so less fabrics is wasted in production.

Saves Water - It can take multiple gallons of water to produce just one t-shirt. By producing less, we conserve water and protect the quality of our oceans.

Decreases Air pollution - Large factories around the world mass produce clothing, and it's estimated that the fashion industry accounts for 10% of the world's carbon emissions.

Protects sealife - Polyester doesn't decompose in water. These wasted materials find their way to our oceans and harm the ecosystem.

¹AHF Global Quality, in consultation with the Latin America and Caribbean Bureau, initiated the process to clean up the cumulative census in the global wellness clinics, which resulted in dropping 88,421 clients from 8 AHF Wellness clinics who are no longer active or receiving services in those facilities. Countries are also submitting the quarterly reports, which normally results in slight drop of census because of clients who became No Longer In care (NLIC) in Quarter One of 2022.
